Even with the heat, get back to nature

Knox County
Ruth Vonderhoe
Extension Educator
UNL Extension

Last month I delivered a program to childcare centers statewide where we focused on spaces to learn and grow and the importance of designing outdoor spaces for children in our care to experience nature. No matter what season is, research indicates that children who have opportunities to experience their natural environments have the ability maintain concentration, delay gratification, and cope with emotions as their lives.

Research done in the Netherlands demonstrated the distance one lives from the nearest green space and the provision of many major illnesses including anxiety disorder and depression in children under age 15. According to Louise Chaurier, Professor of Planning and Urban Design from the University of Oregon, children in many studies report that memories of a special place in nature experience in their childhood give them a pool of resilience in which they can draw in difficult times.

When designing spaces for children, advise childcare providers to include a balance of natural spaces and play equipment. Include areas with small trees, and perhaps a water feature and patches of soil to explore as well as to garden. Play equipment that is safe for children can be introduced within the outdoor space and the natural additions of plants and pathways can create natural barriers to define the purpose of these areas. Check out Benefits of Connecting Children with Nature for some great ideas and after outdoor space designs in childcare settings as well as a detailed explanation of the many benefits of natural environments.

Bringing the outdoors in to the classroom or center is also essential in early childhood curriculum. Children can make art and crafts inspired by the possible items from nature that children can explore and take back to the classroom. Classrooms can add sticks and rocks or tree cookies to the building area, or introduce seeds and leaves to the sensory center. Cook! These items be used in the art area? If you have seed group experiences, you might explore the seeds inside of a pumpkin or pumpkin.

Senior family gatherings for reunion

A total of 81 Ehlers family members gathered together on July 1 at the home of Martan and Ivy Creighton for the 2017 Family Reunion. There were family members attending from Wayne and from all over the United States, from Texas to Michigan and California to Florida, ranging in age from 3 weeks to 86 years. Family members were able to reconnect with cousins, aunts and uncles and meet children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren. There were some four generations families at the family reunion. After sharing a potluck meal, there were many conversations over pictures taken and water games for the kids and adults. Family members noted that “it was a great reunion and our special thanks goes to Martan (Ehlers) Creighton and her husband, Ivan, for hosting the reunion and to Donna (Baier) Ehlers for getting the reunion organized.”

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By Lowell Johnson, City Administrator

Wayne need not worry about any power outages. The City of Wayne has a good history of staying powered-up through the hot summer. The power is a utility for Wayne and the City does not have to worry. The system is all underground and Wayne will have two participants at the workshop. The goal of the workshop is to help everyone understand the grid. The grid is a natural gas grid that provides energy for the area. The grid is more reliable and safer than an overhead system. The grid is also more versatile. The U.S. has been watching and learning. Hackers are also working in the US and European countries. This is a good example of how we can learn from each other. Wayne is a small town, but it is a big player in the world of cybersecurity. The workshop is for everyone, not just the people who work in cybersecurity. Dolphins making a splash

The Wayne American Legion Seniors played their final regular-season home games this past week as they faced off in a five-game series to make way for postseason play next week. On Wednesday, the Seniors split a twinbill with the Omaha Central Aces, dropping the opener 6-2 before coming back to win a wild second game, 11-15. The Aces put up five runs in the third inning to take control of the first game. Wayne got a run in the fourth when Zane Jackson doubled home Tyler Lutt, then added another in the sixth on Jackson’s sacrifice fly, also scoring Lutt. Payton Gambel led both of Wayne’s six hits in the contest. Adam Bentjen took the loss.

On Thursday, the Seniors split a twinbill with the South Sioux City Nationals, highlighted by a two-run double from Nichols. Wayne tied the game in the fourth when Gamble doubled home Lutt, and added a run in the sixth to secure the win. Bentjen took the loss.

On Friday, Wayne split a twinbill with the St. Charles Schurmann Aces. The Aces put up five runs in the third inning to take control of the first game. Wayne got a run in the fourth when Zane Jackson doubled home Tyler Lutt, then added another in the sixth on Jackson’s sacrifice fly, also scoring Lutt. Payton Gambel led both of Wayne’s six hits in the contest. Adam Bentjen took the loss.

The Wayne Seniors 13-9, played at South Sioux City on Wednesday and close the regular season with a three-game series this past weekend as they gear up for postseason play next week.

Policies, handbooks discussed by Wayne Community Schools Board of Education

By Clara Osten

client@wcherald.com

Policies dealing with construction, internal board policies and by-laws of the board were reviewed during Monday’s meeting of the Wayne Community Schools Board of Education.

The board is in the process of reviewing all of its policies and working with the Perry Law firm to review and update the school’s policies.

The board also approved several policy changes that require annual review. These include the district’s acknowledgement of the Superintendent as CEO of the district, Parental Involvement, Anti-Bullying and Student Fees.

A policy in regard to the Homestead Student was tabled until a later meeting due to updates being made. Second reading of the K-6 Handbook was held with changes made to reflect the latest updates. Board members also listened to information in regard to the 2011 Teachers Handbook.

Superintendent Mark Lenihan told the board that changes were made in regard to the hours of duty for teachers to an accommodative and all-time consistent.

He had originally suggested teachers be on duty from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., but after consideration, determined that 7:45 a.m. to 4 p.m. would be more appropriate.

“Most of our teachers are here early and stay late. We just want to make sure teachers are available for students, both before and after school,” Lenihan said.

In other agenda items, the board received an update from Superintendent Lenihan on the renovation project at the high school. He told the board that the project has been going well and has been impressed with the project manager, who has been on site at all hours of the day to make sure the project is going according to schedule.

Lenihan explained to the board a number of changes that have taken place as part of the project. Some of these have resulted in additional costs, while others have saved a delender. The end result of these changes has resulted in an additional $215 for the project.

Lenihan said that the later meeting portion of the project should be completed before the start of the fall sports practices.

The district received a dividend check in the amount of $3,211 from EMC insurance. This was due to reductions in the number of workman’s compensation claims submitted by the district.

An update was presented on bus transportation for the district and approved. It will allow for an additional stop at the Vintage Hill Park in the northeast portion of Wayne. This will not change the bus route and is expected to transport equipment and uniforms and can be used by the lunch program if necessary.

A 2006 Ford Box truck from Arnie’s Ford will be used by the district for transporting uniforms and can be used by the lunch program if necessary.

McLaughlin said a breakfast is being planned for Wayne Community Schools Foundation Director Lindsay McLaughlin updated the board on recent activities, including band transportation and all other union held in conjunction with the Wayne County Chamber. She noted that alumni present appreciated the event.

McLaughlin said a breakfast is being planned for those involved with agriculture to introduce newly hired Ag Education instructor Tim Roesmann and to discuss the implementation of an FFA program for the school.

The Wayne Community Schools Board of Education will meet in regular session on Monday, Aug. 14 at 7 p.m. This time is later than normal due to the event. The meeting will next meet in regular session on Monday, Sept. 12 at 6:30 p.m.

The board is still struggling to get Stanley Petro grounds. Butler County Landfill will hold the Wayne County Fair event the county will host this summer. Dates set for the scrap tire recycling series twice.

In other news, commissioners are involved with a project has been going well and he has been impressed with the progress being made.

Total Eclipse of Sun Forever Stamp now for sale at Wayne Post Office

The Postal Service is commemorating the upcoming Aug. 21 solar eclipse by issuing the first-of-its- kind ‘Forever’ stamp that forms the solar eclipse image into the Moon from the heat of a finger.

Once mailed, the image returns back to the Earth.

The stamps are sold in pairs of 25. Stamps are available now at the Wayne Post Office, Post Office locations throughout the county and online at usps.com.

‘With the release of these amazing stamp images using thermochromic ink, we’ve provided an opportunity for people to experience their own personal solar eclipse every time they put a stamp on an envelope,’ said Postmaster General Benfield. Thermochromic ink is vulnerable to UV light and should be kept out of direct sunlight as much as possible to preserve this special effect. To help enhance longevity, the Postal Service is offering a special promotion alerts to hold and protect the stamp pane for a limited time. The back of the stamp pane provides a map of the Aug. 21 eclipse path, and times and it may appear in some locations. A total eclipse of the sun occurs when the moon’s shadow blanket the Earth through a 70-mile-wide path of totality. The Postal Service printed 60 million of these stamps and now they’re sold out. I’m proud that we’re not going to produce any more. I recommend getting these stamps as soon as you can.’

SHOW
A Word In Faith

By Troy Reynolds
Pastor, Journey Christian Church

For many people summer involves a change in routine. But for many people it doesn’t. Summer is the same. In which parts of the time we’re in the same mode which is the same as spring. And life has this way of becoming routine, losing predictability.

Your alarm clock goes off at the same time every day. You hit snooze two times. You get up, get to the bathroom, take a shower, get dressed, have breakfast, grab your coffee and head to work. Then you work a few hours with the same people and eat lunch. You get the same place than back to work. Then you clock out, pick up your kids from your activities, run through the drivethru, get home, change clothes, watch a couple shows on Netflix, then go to bed – only to get up at it again tomorrow and the next day and this week, week after week, month after month.

I think all of us, at times, feel restless, directionless, a bit bored. We just aren’t sure what we’re supposed to be doing. You’ve been there, haven’t you? You’ve worked the same job for a dozen years and it seems your work nothing to show for it. Or you decide to be a stay-at-home mom, but it feels like you’re not contributing and you’re not meeting any income. We’ve all been there. There are times when it seems like we have nothing to show for our efforts, or that we have nothing to offer people.

I think the Lord allows us to go through those times to bring us closer to Him, to force us to rely upon Him and not on our own resourcefulness. He has made many of them hard. He has made many of them dry. He has made many of them self-centered. He has made many of them without purpose, just stay faithful. You never know when Jesus is going to show up.

I think there are many times in our lives when it feels like we’re lost, when you’re bored, feeling a bit aimless, directionless, lack of purpose. He has allowed our lives to be so limited that we are forced to make decisions. As we go to bed, we try to figure out what we do, but do it for Jesus. Just keep walking. Keep moving forward. Because Jesus cares about your everyday, ordinary life. When you feel lost, when you’re bored, feeling a bit aimless, directionless, lack of purpose, just stay faithful. You never know when Jesus is going to show up.

Wayne Community Theatre presents ‘Return to the Forbidden Planet’ at WSC

Wayne Community Theatre presents “Return to the Forbidden Planet,” a musical by Robert Harling, to be performed in the Wayne State College Black Box Theatre (former level of Peterson Fine Arts building), July 13-16. Shows are Thursday through Saturday evenings at 7 p.m. and Sunday at 2 p.m.

“Return to the Forbidden Planet” is a hilarious spoof of Shakespeare’s “The Tempest” set aboard a space ship that crashes on a forbidden planet. The musical production features “Good Vilia Tennis,” “The King Me,” “The Dance of the Robot Man,” “Hey Mr. Spaceman,” “All Shook Up,” and “The Time Warp.”

The intimate setting of the Black Box provides opportunities for audience members to get up and dance. The show features a rumbling roller-blading robot and a giant tentacle monster. This show is certain to knock your socks off.

Tickets are $12 each and available at the door. Please plan to arrive early. A small donation is available for those attending. Seating is limited on a first come, first served basis.

Wayne-area Retired School Personnel Group

The Wayne Area Retired School Personnel Group met July 1 at Brookside in Wayne. This was the group’s annual picnic and was attended by 19 members and guests.

Charles Mason began the picnic by reciting a patriotic poem from memory.

After a catered picnic lunch and time to enjoy visiting, the group was treated to a special presentation. Merlin Preston brought a model airplane that he built himself. He has made many of them himself, through the years, and has flown them in the helicopter mode outdoors.

Chicken Show

Cluck Off were once again part of the fun on Saturday. Sprinkled with others like Chicken Scratch and Chicken Flight as well as the Egg Toss and Egg Drop, kept all ages involved.

Folks Test Busenben, Cheri Ostlin and Ann Krogar awarded honors to Magruder of Omaha the first place honors at the National Cluck Off in the 13-and-under division. For the 13th time, Joel Vavra of Crete took home honors with his win in the 14-and-over division of the National Cluck Off.

Vavra and Magruder faced off, with Vavra eventually taking the king of the coop title.

“He’s going to beat me in future years,” Vavra said of Magruder. The two held hands and gave one final roost for the crowd together before exiting the stage.

Competitors for the National Cluck Off came from across Nebraska, Colorado, Ohio and even Seattle, Wash.

Oswald Adozienzin chucked the rubber chicken the farthest in the 14-and-over division of the Rubber Chicken Chuck competition, while Jackson Griesch earned the honors in the 13-and-under division.

The Egg Drop line was a hundred feet long but quickly dwindled as foot after foot was added to the height. This year’s record was 45’.

A number of fun things to take part in included a petting zoo and the Nebraska 150 mobile museum parked on Wayne State’s campus.

Saturday evening brought about the All-Class Reunion at the auditorium with a local favorite playing. Sons of Satan, a local band that started back in the 1960s, got the original band members back together for their 50th. The original members played several songs popular when they started and the band had folks dancing the whole night.

Now that the dust has settled and all things chicken have found a place to roost until the next go-round, there is one question unanswered ... what’s next year’s theme?

Thank you

Our thanks to everyone who helped us celebrate, our 50th Wedding Anniversary by traveling great distances to attend the party by sending cards, gifts, calls and flowers. The memories will last forever.

Thank you

John & Judy Williams

I would like to thank everyone for their continued support and encouragement the last 1 1/2 years. A special thank you to all of those who helped us celebrate and others who stood or sat hard at the cafe when I returned home. Thank you to my family and friends for the cards, flowers, words of encouragement and this memento. Thank you to all.

The Springbank Township Library has purchased new books for your summer reading.

Favorite Foods Contest
The Favorite Foods Contest was held on July 6 at the Wayne County Courthouse. 4-H’ers prepared the favorite recipes and presented them for a special occasion. Participants were then interviewed by a judge about their meal. Jerzi Carlson received a blue ribbon, and Miranda Feininger was champion also with a purple ribbon.

Dixon County 4-Hers take part in recent horse shows
The 2017 Dixon County 4-H Show and 4-H State Horse Show were held recently. These competitions are an opportunity for youth to showcase what they have learned through their 4-H horse project area and practical gate showmanship.

The following youth from Dixon County attended the district show held at Wayne on June 14.
The results are as follows: Break Krommeltz from Allen received Blue in Senior Western Pleasure, Junior Western Horsemanship, Senior Barrel Racing and Senior Pole Bending which qualified her for the State horse show in all three areas.

County Thomas of Walthill earned a Blue in Senior Western Horsemanship and Senior Bunting.
The 4-H Home Program is an educational program designed for 4-H members to learn about science, care, and career opportunities related to horses. Youth have learned how to manage and maintain horse skills and build their knowledge about the care and science of horses. Youth learn about care and management as well as safety practices while working with their horses.
Youth have also been learning about the science of nutrition to be able to apply that knowledge for their horses to be able to maintain a healthy body weight and to provide exercise so the horse is in good condition.

A key component of learning in the horse project is studying the science of animal behavior which is used while working with horses in training strategies. Youth learn about different careers and explore career opportunities they may select after high school.

Youth who enter a sport purple or silver ribbon at district are then qualified to enter the State 4-H Horse Show to be held at Farmer Park in Grand Island July 16-18.

Allan Community Club
The Allan Community Club will meet June 19 for a 7 p.m. meet and greet to order the secretary and treasurer reports read and approved. Meetings were made to pay the bills and donate $100 to the State 4-H Convention Program and $500 to the Music Boosters for thematic performance. We plan to donate the leftover food from the Bran banquet which qualified our team. The group decided to make a donation to the branch members of the band’s upcoming San An- tonio Bowl trip.

The group also decided to donate the leftover food from the Bran banquet to the Music Boosters.
The group decided to make an effort to encourage the band and the school to attend our meetings to keep all organiza- tions informed and work together for the town’s activities. The activity will be the end-of-season potluck picnic at 6 p.m. at 600 S. First St. on Tuesday, July 25. All are welcome. The Community Club will provide the meat, drinks, and paper products. The pro-

Landowner/Tenant Lease Workshop scheduled July 27
Nebraska Extension will be hosting a Landowner/Tenant Lease Workshop on Thursday, July 27, from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Lifeline Lung Norfolk.

This workshop is designed to provide practical information and resources to landowners, tenants, real estate agents, and attorneys. It will provide educational information on evaluating property values, understanding lease terms and minimum rental rates to assist in making informed decisions.

Participants will be able to practice new skills in negotiating a lease agreement, reviewing existing lease agreements, understanding current market trends, and landowner/tenant rights and responsibilities.
